RETAINED BY A COLD.

President Cancels
His Engagement.

Imperative Order of the Physician that Mr. Taft Keep to His Rooms.

Denial of the Rumor that His Present Illness Indicates Pneumonia.

Private Secretary Hilles, Like
His Chief, Temporarily
an Invalid, Too.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—President Taft is suffering from a severe cold which confined him to the White House today.

In a result, the President tonight
canceled his engagement for Richmond, Va. tomorrow, where he was to have addressed the National Growers' Congress.

A BAD COLD.
The President contracted a bad cold
on his return from his trip to the country.

Against the advice of his physician,
the President, he filled an engagement at Richmond, Md., last week,
where he addressed a big crowd.
At that time, he apologized for his illness, which was not assessed in his office.

He is not by any means considered ill, but his physician will insist upon his keeping quiet and attending only to the most important public business for a few days.

White House, for forty-eight hours,
but he has attended to pressing business. Obeying the physician's commands, Mr. Taft accordingly telegraphed his regrets to the Richmond Congress.

RUMORS DENIED.
There were rumors that Mr. Taft was threatened with pneumonia, but these were denied at the White House.
"A bad cold and nothing more,"
was the way the report was disposed of.

Charles D. Hilles, secretary of the President, like his chief, also is the victim of a severe cold. He was confined to his bed today, but his physician believes he will be able to take up his duties in the executive office tomorrow.

LATEST BULLETIN.
At the White House late tonight it was stated that there had been no change in the President's condition
during the evening.

WATERLESS IN A FLOOD

Seattle's Supply Is Cut Off.

Overflow of Dam Lets Loose
a Veritable Cataract on Fertile Valleys.

Railway Traffic in Washington State Demoralized by the Deluge.

Bridges Are Washed Away in Many Places and Light Plants Put Out.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 19.— Seattle's water supply cut off, the municipal light plant out of commission, railroad service demoralized, bridges washed out and valley towns and farms under water, represent the damage done today by the floods in Western Washington, caused by the heavy rains in the lowlands and the sudden melting of six feet of snow in the Cascade Mountains.

Reports received by the railroads from their stations high up in the mountains say that the rivers are beginning to fall, but the water continues to rise at an alarming rate in the lowlands, and it is feared that much damage will be done.

SERIOUS ASPECT.
The most serious aspect of the flood is the cutting off of Seattle's water supply, which is obtained from Cedar Lake, thirty-five miles east of here,
and is brought into the city reservoirs by two big pipe lines, one five and one eight feet in diameter. A bridge sixteen miles west of Moncton, where the Seattle municipal power plant is situated, that carries the pipe lines across Cedar River, was washed out this morning when thirteen feet of water was released by damage to the municipal power dam just above Moncton.

The five-foot top of the dam was carried away, and flooding the valleys below, destroyed many small bridges, and made it necessary to shut down the power plant, and tonight Seattle's streets are only partly lighted. The city is obtaining current for some of its circuits from the power companies that supply the street car system and the industrial plants.

RESERVE SUPPLY.
The loss of the pipe lines will work no hardship on the people of the city if the river subsides soon enough to permit pipe line repairs to be made within a week.

The city has a reserve supply of 100,000 gallons in the service reservoirs. Superintendent Young of the water department said tonight that this would last a week if consumers are not wasteful.

(When the water poured over the dam, it was reported yesterday that the "diversion" had failed.)

A man with cable connections in Italy was talking about the "diversion" had failed.)

EX-CONVICT IS A GUARD.

Former Life Term in Nevada Prison in Place of Authority.

RENO (Nev.) Nov. 19.— [Exclusive Dispatch.] After having labored all this summer as a member of Warden
Ray Baker's honor band of State prisoners, employed in the construction of the road between Reno and Carson under the supervision of three unarmed guards, James R.
Nobles, until Tuesday serving a life term in the State prison,
today rejoined Warden Baker,
and this time he was employed as a guard, not as a convict. As soon as his liberty was restored Nobles applied to Warden Baker for a position as guard at the road camp, and he was hired on the spot. He took up his labors today and it is probable as soon as the road gains momentum at the approach of cold weather the new guard will return to the penitentiary and join the force of guards
there.

PRINCE DECRIES

GAEKWAR OF BARODA FINDS HIS ALLOWANCE SMALL.

Will Complete Course at Harvard in January, and Says He Will Be Glad to Rejoin His Father in His Own Country—Gives His Opinions on American Girls.

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Nov. 19.—
[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jaising Gaekwar, Prince of Baroda and heir apparent to the throne of the country, and now a senior at Harvard, long for the time that he can shake the dust of America from his heels and return to the land of his nativity. He expects to finish his college career in January, serving the four years course in three and a half years. The young Prince will then return to Baroda and assist his royal father in directing the policies of that country.

"I have found that the expense attendant upon obtaining a college education in this country is rather heavy,
especially for one in my position," said Gaeikwar. "Many times I find my obligations here and have oftentimes been on the verge of asking my father to increase my allowance. The high cost of living is one of the faults
of this country."

"I can't say that I admire your women, and you can state emphatically that I have no intention of taking an American bride home with me. I have found your girls too cold. They are overdone of show and awfully affected."

UNEASY IS THE PRINCESS FOR AERONAUT HUSBAND.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before her marriage to Prince Eitel Friedrich, in 1908,
the Princess was the Duchess Sophie Charlotte, eldest daughter of the Grand Duke of Oldenburg. She was the eldest of his daughters and was born in Potsdam in 1878. All descriptions of her agree that she is bright, pretty, and amiable and a great favorite in grand ducal circles. It was said that she was at one time betrothed to the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar, but the match was broken.
Prince Wilhelm Eitel Friedrich is the second and favorite son of the Kaiser. He is a lieutenant of the Guards and in other regiments wears

the decoration of the Order of the Annunciation and is a Chevalier of the Order of the Black Eagle. He also is an officer in the navy and has paid marked attention to the development in aeronautics as applied to the war game, a circumstance that causes the Princess much uneasiness. Her own hobby is polo, and she has been from which her wife is descended has given sovereigns to Denmark, Scandinavia and Russia and is said to be descended from Wittkind, the celebrated leader of the Saxons against Charlemagne. The reasons for breaking her betrothal to the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar have never been given to the public.

GERMANY IS TO ABRIDGE
IMPERIAL PREROGATIVES.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Changes of profound significance are coming in the German constitutional system. Wilhelm II finds himself confronted by an emphasized movement for the limitation of imperial prerogatives in certain vital functions of administration. It is a matter of far greater moment than the investigation of the Bundesrat and the Reichstag with a share of treaty-making power, in cases of acquisition or cession of colonial territory. It strikes at the very base of the Kaiser's personal regime.

German statesmen at all parties in Parliament are fast reaching an agreement that the ministers of the Emperor should be responsible, not to him in the last resort, but to the Reichstag.

Developments of the last few years
have made clear to thoughtful Germans the expediency of broadening
the foundation of the government, which, as the Cologne Gazette says, ought not to be, or suggest, in these modern times, a pyramid resting on its apex.

That the further women get into the industrial and especially the professional life, the further away they get from being the carriers out of the ideals for which they were created.

"I don't mean to say that women should not be active. I don't want women to return to becoming mere dolls, without ideas and thoughts to interest their natural companions."

SHOT AT FROM AMBUSH.

Head of Oregon School for Feeble Minded Has Narrow Escape From Death on the Road.

SALEM (Or.) Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Shot at from the side of a road by an unidentified person, Dr.
Frank E. Smith, superintendent of the State School for Feeble Minded, had a narrow escape last night as he started from the institution in his automobile to this city. Following, it did, the receiving of several threatening letters by the superintendent from an anonymous source and the recent escape of a dangerous inmate,
it is believed that an escaped honor man was the one who did the shooting.

Since receiving the threatening letters, Dr. Smith has been in the habit of carrying a revolver, and last night
he had his gun on the seat beside him.
He pulled it, and fired three shots at the direction of the flash. One of the bullets fired at Dr. Smith passed through a gauntlet glove, grazing his wrist.

Hurrying to town, he secured assistance and the spot where the shooting occurred was gone over. A .22 caliber revolver was found lying on the ground where it had evidently been shot out of the hand of Dr. Smith's assailant. The handle was shattered but there were no marks of blood upon it. The night was no dark at this time that further search for the fugitive was given up.

Dr. Sprague of Amherst Says the Modern Wife Is Coming to Regard
Her Husband as a Mere Companion Rather Than the Father of Her Children.

Dr. Sprague denounces colleges as "old maid" factories and blames women for being so fond of society and automobiles that they can't find time to raise families.

Dr. Sprague declares that it is not the millionaires who fail to have children, or the poor people, but the middle class. He sees danger in the threatening move for woman's emancipation. It is, in his mind, an indication of the growing dislike of women for the matrimonial yoke and a sign of their gradual getting away from the spheres and the pursuits for which nature intended them.

"I must say," says Dr. Sprague, believed that an uprising that would have again plunged Mexico in civil strife, has been averted.

That there will be no more leniency shown is certain by the vigorous steps being taken.

Two cavalry regiments, the Fourth at Fort Bliss, and the Third at Fort Sam Houston are ready to move to the Mexican border.

Company "I," Third Cavalry, was ordered to the border tonight.

Gen. Henry Hutchings, Adjutant-General of Texas, has gone to Laredo and taken personal command of the three companies of rangers, who orders to deal severely with armed Mexicans attempting to cross into Mexico.

The Federal government has also increased its force of mounted custom inspectors and immigration officers, expected to cooperate with Texas
officials in enforcing neutrality laws.

There is no question that the arrest
has caused consternation in the Reyes camp here. Many of the men who have been making his home at headquarters, and others who have visited him daily, have hurriedly departed for places unknown. Emilio Gomez is still in San Antonio and as far as can are making no hostile move towards him. At Ft. Sam Houston, troops are in readiness to move at any mo-

WOMEN BARRED FROM ALL JURIES

Justice Rules that Only the Males are Eligible.

Decision Is Based on California Civil Code.

Matrons Summoned in Berkeley Are Dismissed.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] BERKELEY, (Cal.) Nov. 19.—

Women are not eligible for jury service in the local court nor in any other in California, according to a ruling yesterday by Judge Robert Edgar of the local Justice Court. Judge Edgar cited a decision of the California Supreme Court to the effect that a woman should not be permitted to serve on a grand jury, and declared that the California Civil Code, which specifically defines a jury as "a body of men," would have to be amended by the Legislature before it would be possible for women to perform jury duty.

As a result of the ruling, fifteen women summoned for jury service in a hearing case to come before Judge Edgar on Monday, probably will be dismissed.

Banking Teller in San Francisco Bank Charged With Embezzlement Is Admitted to Probation.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Darrell A. Hare, formerly receiving teller of the Nevada-Wells Fargo Bank, who pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzling funds from his employers, was released on probation yesterday by Superior Judge Calahan, after several of the bank officials had testified as to his previous good character and his belief in his promise to remain in the straight and narrow path in the future.

The specific charge against Hare was the embezzlement of $500, although his speculations are said to have amounted to about $3000. When the shortage was discovered, he freely admitted his guilt, and said the money had been lost in stock speculation.

San Francisco Woman Accepts Divorce Not to Mention Husband's Affairs Which Changes Her Mind.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although Mrs. Julia C. Sullivan, according to testimony given before Superior Judge Morgan yesterday, accepted a divorce from her husband, E. H. Sullivan, two years ago in consideration of her agreement not to bring divorce proceedings and mention the name of her husband, she recently has concluded that the time has expired on her bargain, for she gave Judge Morgan a full account of her husband's alleged amours and was rewarded with an interlocutory decree of divorce.

An agreement between husband and wife according to the terms of the divorce decree in 1909, Mrs. Sullivan was conducting a "Days of '49" spectacle in the city. The wife named two young patrons who were awarded with an interlocutory decree of divorce.

San Francisco Police Take Money and Lottery Tickets and Put Lid on Chinatown.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—The police came down with a bang on gambling in Chinatown last night. Three hundred and fifty prisoners, an estimated number of more than fifty prisoners, were taken after a Ross-alley club had been raided for business the police rounded down on the place. Hundreds of Chinese dashed for the doors, and one of the sidehalls, which contained a large number of Chinese, was being bundled off to the police. Two bags of coin and a number of lottery tickets were seized in the various raids.

Official of North Yakima, Wash., Releases and Suspends Sentences of Many Offenders.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] TACOMA (Wash.) Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the first time in the history of the oldest member of the North Yakima police force, the City Jail there was empty yesterday. Mayor Spilwain, who is both acting Chief of Police and police magistrate, discharged without trial all prisoners arrested during the night, and suspended the sentences of the remainder.

Seventeen were given their freedom yesterday and today. Taking the cue, the police made but one arrest, and the victim released after half an hour in the City Jail and a lecture by Mayor Spilwain.

Spilwain was elected in October, pledged to give North Yakima a strictly law-abiding administration. He is saving the city two salaries by making himself Police Chief and police judge.

Sacramento Wants Visitors to Panama Exposition to Give That Part of State Some of Their Time.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SACRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sacramento has an idea that the permanent benefits of the San Francisco Exposition of 1915 will mostly accrue to Los Angeles and the southern part of the State unless some plan is devised to halt the great tide of visitors before they reach San Francisco and show them some of the advantages of this part of the country. If they pass through the Sacramento Valley en route to the exposition without stopping, they are likely to go thence to the South and do all their land-buying in that part of the State.

So Sacramento has conceived a scheme for a "Days of '49" spectacle in the city to be held during the exposition period, that eastern visitors can be induced to visit the Sacramento Valley either before or after seeing the exposition at the bay.

A committee from Sacramento headed by the Mayor has had one conference with the exposition officials at San Francisco, and late last night another conference was held in this city with a committee of three exposition directors, sent to Sacramento by the exposition.

Messrs. McNab, Clay and Mulally, the San Franciscans are fearful that if Sacramento carries out her plan, Fresno, San Jose and a dozen other cities in the State will try to follow suit and that it will hurt the exposition. Visitors from the East might come to California, and all the sidehalls, which need to spend as much money in the main tent as they would otherwise. The matter is no definitely settled.

STOCK MARKET NORMAL

Shares Hold Large Part of Their Gains in Spite of Wide-spread Profit-taking.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Profit-taking on a large scale depressed the market during the first half of last week. In spite of the extent to which this movement was carried, stocks retained a large part of the gains made during the preceding fortnight, and when the pressure was removed quotations began to swing upward again.

The absorptive power of the market during the period of profit-taking encouraged the bulls to enter upon fresh commitments, and toward the close of the week there was renewed buying for the long account.

Trading remained so largely professional that it was questionable whether the market movements were influenced greatly by outside developments, such as happenings in business and politics.

Formal acceptance by the United States Circuit Court of the American Tobacco Company reorganization plan constitutes perhaps the foremost of these influences. Col. Roosevelt's expected revision of and legislation in the growth of bullish sentiment was the Commerce Court decree staying the tariff revision and of legislation in the influence of Union Pacific's annual report, which was regarded as exceptionally favorable.

Despite the evidences of underlying strength, there was noticeable a tendency to sell stock whenever any considerable improvement in the market was seen, with the result that the recovery late in the week did not reach large proportions.

The possibility of radical tariff revision and of legislation in the growth of bullish sentiment was the Commerce Court decree staying the tariff revision and of legislation in the influence of Union Pacific's annual report, which was regarded as exceptionally favorable.

SUGAR URGED AS WHOLESOME DIET.

IT ADDS TO HEALTH AND AIDS GOOD LOOKS.

Professor at Boston "Tech" Says It Is the Best and Cheapest Form of Energy and Its Use Increases With Ascent of People from Savagery.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If one would be good looking and at the same time well nourished, he has but to follow the rules laid down by Dr. Alpheus G. Woodman, assistant professor of wood analysis at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and eat sugar.

"It is the food of civilization," states Dr. Woodman, thus upholding the opinion vouchsafed recently by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the government's chemistry bureau, "Persons who have enough sugar in their food," he continued, "are better nourished and better looking, as well as more energetic, than those who neglect carbohydrates in their dietary."

"Carbohydrates as contained in sugars, are very quickly assimilated, and thus so much energy is not expended in the process of digestion as in other foods. For example, in the selection of a stimulant to give an athlete just before he enters a race, there is nothing better than a few lumps of sugar."

It is the best, and cheapest, form of energy," Dr. Woodman concludes, "so it may not be surprising that its use has increased with the ascent of people from savagery into civilization. Probably a lack of knowledge as to how sugar may be procured has handicapped the savage in adding more of this food to his diet."

CHIEF COMPANY INDICTED.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19.—[By A. P. ## LYMAN UNFOLDS A TALE OF WOE.

United States Judge Visibly Affected by It.

Prisoner Laments that He Can't Get Wine.

And Jailors Don't Allow Him Near the Window.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. John Grant Lyman, wanted in Los Angeles on the charge of using the mail to defraud, paid an official call upon John Van Fleet in the United States Circuit Court late yesterday to pour into the justice's ears a stirring tale of woe and wrongs. Upon a pair of crutches, artificially draped with velour about the arms, Lyman entered the courtroom, accompanied by four Sheriff's deputies, three United States marshal's deputies, two lawyers, United States Marshal C. T. Elliott, Sheriff Barnett of Alameda county, and Assistant United States District Attorney McKinley.

Dr. Lyman was pained. He admitted it. In the first place, he said, he couldn't have wine with his meals. In the second place he was denied the social privilege of mingling with other prisoners. In the third place, the marshal and the Sheriff wouldn't let him visit dental offices in San Francisco.

In the fourth place, his guardian refused to allow him near the windows. In the fifth place, the doctor couldn't write a letter unless his jailors grooved the contents. And in the sixth place, the Alameda County Jail was a rough, uncultured place anyway, said the doctor, and even though he was given an entire cage to himself, his imprisonment really amounted to solitary confinement, and he was greatly distressed.

Judge Van Fleet was visibly impressed with Lyman's complaint. At least he said he was after Chief Jailor White, had explained that the prisoner had been given the "swell" three cells in the jail.

"I am so impressed," said the court, "that I am going to dismiss the petition. Next case."

WEATHER FAIR FOR THE WEEK.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The coming week will be one of generally fair weather and reasonable temperature throughout the country, according to the forecast issued tonight by the Weather Bureau.

"Rain will continue," says the bulletin, "in the north Pacific States during the next several days. The next disturbance of importance to cross the country will appear in the Northwest Monday or Tuesday and move thence along the northern border to the St. Lawrence Valley."

"This disturbance will be attended by local snows in the northern States, and be followed by a cooling to colder weather over the northern half of the country. This cold change will appear in the Northwestern States about the middle of the week."

Doctors of San Francisco and Oakland Believe J. W. Hill of Detroit Is a Case of Alternating Personality. He Did Not Know His Name Until the Police Told Him—Is Under Several Charges.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—A well-dressed young man appeared at Oakland police headquarters yesterday and asked for aid in discovering his lost identity. He said he had no memory of his name or of anything of his past life.

He made an investigation and answered the youth's inquiry today by informing him that he was J. W. Hill of San Francisco, who had been in various cities for having cashed fraudulent checks. He was arrested and is held on two charges, preferred by a San Francisco hotel and by a theatrical company now playing here.

"I suddenly became conscious of my surroundings on an Oakland street yesterday afternoon, as if awakened from a dream. I had no memory of how I came there or of what city I was in. My mind was absolutely clear in other respects, however. I knew I was in the city of the bay, as I felt that it was my duty to go to the city and to my friends. I was embarrassed, so I saw the name 'Oakland' on a sign. I was familiar with San Francisco and Oakland, decided to go to San Francisco as I had a friend to see. I was very nervous, but I might appeal. I came across a bay and after wandering about for some time, I found a place to land. It was then I went to the

The young man denies all knowledge of the crimes with which he is charged, and the hospital physicians who examined him believe they have discovered a remarkable case of either miscegenation or alternating personality. He was brought to San Francisco, and is being examined by physicians at a hospital here tonight.

the information upon which the youth was arrested was supplied by a national detective agency. According to a representative of this organization, Hill left Detroit after forging checks in that city, and was traced to Salt Lake, and afterward to Los Angeles. In Salt Lake, the detective said, he married a Miss Sweeney, with whom he went to Southern California, where he was arrested.

This information was possessed by the police, when Hill appeared at headquarters. They also had a description of the man wanted, which included mention of a white necktie, a mustache and a tattoo mark on the right arm. Hill's left arm is withered and his right arm bears the tattoo mark.

The young man's story to the police today was in part as follows:

Oakland Believes J. W. Harrington Personality. Until the Police Told

[THE TIMES.]

Suddenly became conscious to soundings on an Oakland street any afternoon, as if awakening from a dream. I had not the slightest idea of how I came there, nor did I know what it would be. I was in my mind was very clear in other respects, and was able to ask any one the name of the city, as I felt that it would be.

I saw the name 'Oakland' on a street car, and, although not familiar with San Francisco, I decided to go to San Francisco as I had a vague idea of having a friend to whom to appeal. I came across the street after wandering about for some time returned to Oakland. It was then I went to police headquarters and asked them to tell me who is of good appearance and only a man of education and gent, had been known as R. W. Harrington, a frequent visitor in San Francisco. By the mention of one of them he is accused of giving a worthless check after dining at the headquarters of a theatrical company. The two young women told me today as the man who had been known as R. W. Harrington, another member of the same company, identified him as a man who had given her a check for $250.00 at another place a few days ago. The clerk at the hotel identified him as a man who had visited the hotel and asked for Mr. Moore.

A physician at an Oakland hospital examined Hill yesterday and expressed the opinion that his story was a fabrication. He found a crumpled bit of paper, found in the bottom of a comb case, carried by him, proved to be an order on a San Francisco bank for $250.00. Hill borrowed the comb case from a man on a train and knew nothing of the order.

York Society Issues an Appeal to Preserve the Rights of Man as in the United States.

DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES: NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—[Exclusive.] A circular issued by the American Liberty and Property Association from its New York office at No. 30 Broadway, calls upon those who believe that the government is usurping powers of individuals, and who are alarmed at the socialist tendencies shown in the recent election of their association and enlist in its campaign of education.

The motto of the organization is "Life vs. State help" and the action is described as "A non-partisan movement for upholding private rights, maintaining freedom of contract and restricting paternal legislation."

The circular is signed by a number of well-known New York men and women, including Mr. Frank B. Rowland, David H. Greer, Dr. Henry V. Bolton Hall and Dr. C. H. Hurst.

DECLINES CALL

FRAMENTO, Nov. 19.—[Exclusive.] Rev. S. Fraser Langford, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city, has finally declined a call to the Baptist Church of Long Beach, although offered a salary. Mr. Langford has taken a prominent part in the work for betterment at Sacramento, and a telegram sent to Long Beach says he feels it his duty to stick by his present charge.

's Long Walk to Old Home.

More American:] The story of a notable journey of a cat from Boston to Los Angeles, a journey of about 132 miles, is now in the hands of an astonished correspondent.

On April last a cat, mottled gray and white, a half Persian in breed, was taken from Gloucester, Massachusetts, to the nursing home at Norton on Nursing Home. It was sent there by a doctor, who had been drilled with a knowledge of the cat's habits, and was of the opinion of marking the point of its journey. Soon after arrival at Kingsport, the cat was lost and despite the diligent search, no trace of it could be found.

The nursing home of the nursing home received a letter from Gloucester stating that the cat had been found back to its old home. It arrived with a full and apparently unharmed walked the whole of the 132 miles.

The letter describes the cat on its journey as "a mere shadow of its former self" and expresses the belief that although the cat had been through a terrible walk through the wilderness, it can be nursed back to a healthy condition.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES

TO INVOKE THE INITIATIVE.

Pasadena Prohibition Workers Want Election.

Pastors Refer to the Movement Under Way.

Rodgers May Establish a School of Aviation.

[Office of The Times, 52 S. Fair Oaks avenue.] PASADENA, Nov. 19.—The petition to invoke the initiative to secure an election on a new temperance ordinance was the all-absorbing topic of discussion here yesterday. Most of the ministers either alluded to the subject from their pulpits or else took the temperance question for a theme.

In some of the churches the petition was passed along through the pews for signatures. At others it was presented to members of the congregation at the door as they left the building.

Rev. M. S. Hughes, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, declared last night there is no doubt that a sufficient number of signatures will be obtained. There was a tense moment at this church, when at the morning services Frank S. Wallace, a member of the committee which presented the proposed ordinance to the City Council, misunderstood Dr. Hughes to say that the petition had emanated from it instead of from the Good Templars, and arose from his seat in the congregation to correct the supposed error, saying that he knew nothing about it.

The Pasadena Presbyterian Church, of which Rev. Robert Freeman, chairman of the City Temperance Commission, is pastor, was probably the only one in the city where the petition was not circulated.

No central headquarters were established, and the day closed without any definite estimate as to how many signatures were obtained.

In several of the churches committees were appointed to push the work of securing signatures today. On the other hand, the members of the City Temperance Commission are taking it easy today. They say simply that when the City Council convenes tomorrow they will present the ordinance they have drafted. They think it will be quite acceptable to the temperance element.

Many expressed themselves yesterday as believing that this ordinance should at least be given a trial before an election is called.

SCHOOL OF AVIATION.

If plans under contemplation by aviator Calbraith P. Rodgers and those with whom he is interested mature, the night of aircraft sailing among the clouds over the Crown City will soon be not far from common. Rodgers desires to establish an aeroplane factory and school of aviation here. If he succeeds in doing so, it will possibly make a close bid with Tournament Park and its polo field as a means of recreation and sport for rich easterners, who winter in the city.

Yesterday afternoon the aviator and his manager, Lawrence Peters, accompanied by Robert B. Armstrong, toured the city in an automobile in search of a suitable place which might be leased as a permanent aviation field. Some likely spots were found near Altadena. Others were discovered near Alhambra, but Rodgers declares that the ground there is tooilly for amateur flying.

The aviator's condition was much improved yesterday. He sat comfortably in the automobile and was able to make his way about the corridor of the Hotel Maryland on crutches. The X-ray pictures that were taken of his chest and ankles, have been developed. Those of his ankles show that while no bones were broken, the ligaments were severely wrenched. His back also, was wrenched badly. It is announced that it will yet be some time before he will recover completely from the injuries he received in his fall, which was an almost miraculous escape from death.

Peters left last night for San Francisco, where a flight may possibly be arranged. He expects to return in a few days. It has not yet been decided what will be done about the completion of the flight from Pasadena to Long Beach. The aviator will do no flying at all until he is fully recovered from his injuries. His mechanical men are now at work on the aeroplane which is being built at Long Beach.

HIT BY AUTO.

George Baker, a local theatrical man, was struck by an automobile driven by Henry Garber, of No. 420 North Hill street, Los Angeles, at the intersection of Oil Fair and Lincoln avenues, yesterday afternoon. Despite the fact that the right front wheel of the car passed over the man's body, he was not injured severely enough to be taken to a hospital.

Garber reported to the police that he was driving his machine at a moderate rate of speed, but that Baker came suddenly in front of him, riding a motorcycle at high speed. He said that he ran the car into the curb in an attempt to avert a collision.

W. N. Goody, of No. 1123 North Fair Oaks avenue, while driving an automobile was struck by street car at Fair Oaks avenue and Union street at 10:50 o'clock yesterday morning. He was not injured. The automobile was slightly damaged.

Charles Pollock, of Altadena, who has lived in this vicinity for the past sixteen years, died last Saturday at his home of tuberculosis. He was 28 years of age. He leaves a widow and several children in Altadena and the funeral will be held at El Monte this afternoon at the chapel of Turner and Stevens. Interment will be made in Mountain View Cemetery.

FALLS FROM CAR.

Miss Anna Robins, of No. 297 Grant street, fell from a west-bound Oak Knoll car at the corner of Colorado street and Marengo avenue at 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon and sustained a fracture of the left collarbone and a blow upon the head from which she was still unconscious at a late hour last night.

Miss Robins is about 60 years of

WILL ENLARGE REPUBLIC.

Plans are being made to add to the capacity of the Pomona Institution.

POMONA, Nov. 19.—Plans are being made for enlarging the accommodations at the George Junior Republic, making it possible to care for

It will require about $25,000 to operate the Republic for the coming year. New departments are to be installed and more helpers will be needed. The new buildings are being planned by Architect Myron Frank of Los Angeles. Applications are being received from parents all over Southern California who wish to have their boys admitted to the Republic for the training they will receive.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Wilton Brothers are rushing work on the $30,000 addition to the packing-house of the Pomona Fruit Growers' Exchange and expect to have the house ready for occupancy early in January.

Miss Louise Toller, who is attending Occidental College, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Toller of North Park avenue, and is accompanied by Miss Georgia Brack, Charlotte Donaldson and Jessie Pratt, classmates at college.

The Pomona Woman's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. H. E. K. on East Holt avenue tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Mell Campbell will have charge of the program and the subject to be considered will be "Dry Farming." Its discovery and development being considered.

A mass meeting in the interest of the "Men and Religion Movement" was held at the First Baptist Church this afternoon under the auspices of the Ministerial Union of this city. The speakers included W. E. McVay, vice-president of the German-American Savings Bank of Los Angeles; C. C. Chapman of Fullerton; Benjamin Pearson of the Southern California Edison Company, Los Angeles; J. D. Radford of Los Angeles, and E. H. Emmet, the general secretary of the movement for the Los Angeles district.

GLENDORA.

GLENDORA, Nov. 18.—At the recent annual meeting of the stockholders of the Glendora Citrus Association held in their packing-house, the following officers were elected: J. J. West, president; W. G. Hall, vice-president; L. B. Nelsley, W. R. Powell, J. C. Wright, H. S. Rogers and C. C. Wren.

The receipts and expenditures, as disclosed by the secretary's report, showed a prosperous year for the growers. Eight hundred and sixty-four cartons of oranges were marketed, as against 525 cars the year before, or for the season of 1909-10. The percentage of increase over last season, 49 per cent, and the increased returns to the grower of 25 per cent.

R. A. Woodford was present and delivered a most interesting and instructive address. An elegant repast was served by the ladies of the W.C.T.U.

The officers elected at the annual meeting of the Glendora Irrigating Company held in its office in Glendora Bank building Saturday are as follows: C. C. Warren, president; E. E. Gard, vice-president; C. F. Gordon, secretary; B. Coultan, C. E. Needham, F. C. Schiffman, W. G. Hall, W. E. Bush and E. W. Hart.

The report of L. W. Spaulding, superintendent, showed that the financial condition of the company are in a splendid condition and that there has been no lack of water for any purpose, either for irrigating or for domestic use for the city of Glendora, during the past year.

FORMER JUDGE DIES.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 19.—Judge James Hendrie died last night at his home on Orange avenue, after a brief illness. Mr. Hendrie was a native of Connecticut and was 83 years of age. Reaching manhood, he removed to Iowa and later served four years as a State Senator. In 1886 he removed to Colorado, engaging in farming near Ray. Afterward he was elected county judge of Yuma county and served for several years. He came here two years ago. He leaves two sons, one of whom, Harry, arrived last night from Denver.

"It is interesting," said an American publisher, "to note the growing appreciation shown in Australia for American books. The English publisher has watched it with some apprehension, for interest in our books is certain to interfere with the monopoly formerly enjoyed by the English novelists. The similar growth and development of the two younger countries explains this interest in our life as reflected in the American novel of today."

FLYERS FLOCK TO THE BEACH.

Three Air Invaders Laying Plans for Future.

Pike Association Will Give Away Many Turkeys.

Young Woman Candidate to Make Stump Speech.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 18.—Long Beach has the aviation fever bad. With one already successful birdman, Frank Champion, with another airman, Gene Savage, a balloonist building himself an aeroplane at Santa Ana, and two students rapidly getting ready for pilots' licenses at Dominguez, there are three biplanes being constructed by amateurs in the city.

One of these, James E. Davis, a shoe salesman living at 524 Descanso, has his machine so far along that he gave it a trial on the beach this morning, minus the engine, to see if the planes were properly adjusted. Attached to an automobile, with Davis in the airship, the airship was given a run of 100 yards on the beach and then the planes were tilted and, gracefully as a bird, it swung clear of the ground and at a height of six or eight feet, sailed 100 yards in the air before it again came to earth. Davis was well pleased with the glide and will continue the finishing up of his machine.

FOR THANKSGIVING.

Thanksgiving celebration by the Pike Association is well under way and the attractions for that night threaten to be more entertaining than last year. Duplicate buttons will be among the thousands to be sold in the next ten days and on Thanksgiving night the holders of these will each receive a Thanksgiving turkey. Final details of the programme will be worked out the coming week.

TAX COLLECTIONS. City tax collections for the first twelve days amounted to $31,498. City taxes are delinquent the last Monday in December, but this date falling on Christmas this year the time will probably be extended until the following day.

CAMPAIGN WAXES.

With the coming week the municipal campaign will open up in earnest and ward and mass meetings are scheduled for nearly every night in the week. The Citizens' party will open tomorrow night at the Carroll Park school in the first ward and one of the features will be a political speech by one of the feminine leaders, in advocacy of the election of Miss Mabel Taylor, the only woman candidate in the field.

HUNTINGTON PARK WILL HAVE NEW SCHOOLHOUSE.

Tents of Learning. The ruins of Huntington Park's new school building can be seen in this photograph and the tents provided for students until the structure destroyed can be replaced. This picture was made by moonlight with three hours' exposure.

HUNTINGTON PARK, Nov. 19.—A mass meeting of citizens of the Huntington Park School District, comprising the towns of Bell, Vernon, Huntington Park and Fruitland, which is temporarily being used to house the students who were recently deprived of school facilities by the fire which destroyed the recently completed school building.

The meeting was called to learn the sentiment of citizens toward the proposition to build a new building to take the place of the burned structure. The spirit of the meeting was harmonious and enthusiastic in favor of the issue of more bonds to make up the amount necessary to replace the old building with one which will be a credit to the town.

By unanimous vote the trustees were advised to at once begin the construction of a temporary structure to accommodate the students until the new building can be finished. In no place in America, except in Southern California could the schools have been opened and successfully conducted in tents but the rainy season approaches and better protection is needed for the young people who are in the school.

The business men of the community, who were present at the meeting, went on record as being in favor of calling an election immediately and repaying as far as possible the damage done by the fire. The weight of the tax will fall heavily on the community at this time but those who participated in the meeting realized that it was a community problem which district is at present 4291, an increase of 4.5 per cent. over last year. Of this number 3127 are enrolled in the grammar grades, 224 in the kindergarten and 780 in the High School. Yesterday the work of aiding the west beach walk concrete bulkhead to the foot of Magnolia avenue, a distance of 400 feet, was completed. The delay in the work was due to early obstacles in hydraulic sinking of the concrete piles, which has now been overcome. The total length of this bulkhead when complete will be 7500 feet and consists of 4220 reinforced concrete piling.

Police Judge Hart will be asked tomorrow by attorneys for the defense to appoint a special juror to summon the jury venire in the second trial of the case of Carl Stanley, charged with violating the liquor ordinance. The defense alleges that the police are biased and prejudiced in the case, acting as they do for the city.

David St. Meyers, living on East First street, has in his possession a relic of the war days in the shape of a time table of the Cincinnati & Chicago air line, issued in May, 1865. The time table is signed by John Brandt, Jr., superintendent, and L. V. Morse, trainmaster, and is in good state of preservation. Mr. St. Meyers found it the other day while sorting over some old papers.

Howard Hellyer has assumed the duties of city ticket agent of the Salt Lake Railroad at this point, Harry H. Hopkins returning to his first love, the operating department, with offices in the local freight depot.

The Long Beach police department has received a request from the San Diego department to locate Eugene Cheney, aged 23 and 5 feet 6 inches in height.

WIRES GO UNDERGROUND.

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company Will Clear South Pasadena Streets of Unightly Poles.

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 19.—The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company have completed plans for underground conduits of its system in South Pasadena, to replace the present pole and wire system. This will extend throughout the entire city and work has already commenced on the change, including the replacing of the system on portions of Fremont and Fair Oaks avenues.

GIRL DIES.

The death of Marie Torella, aged 13, of tuberculosis, occurred at the home of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Estrella, No. 613 Fremont avenue, and the funeral services will be held tomorrow morning, at 8 o'clock, at the Holy Family Church, Fremont and El Centro streets. Rev. Father Cotter, the priest in charge, officiating, with interment in Mountain View Cemetery. Besides her father and mother, she leaves two sisters. The family had just lived in this city for one week, but have been residents of Los Angeles county for four years.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Mrs. Frank A. Cattern, president of the Woman's Improvement Association, and Mrs. Leon Longley, who were delegates to the Los Angeles District California Federation of Women's Clubs, at Ventura, returned home today.

The Oneonta Congregational Church has arranged to give a bazaar and an old-fashioned fair, next Friday afternoon and evening. Awards of merit will be given for the best culinary display, cooked food, and fancy articles on sale. An attractive program has been prepared, and it is announced that any couple consenting to be married on this occasion, will be given a set of furniture for their home.

The office of W. H. Lowry, city tax collector, is open at the City Council chamber every day except Sunday from 8 to 10 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. For last Tuesday he reported city taxes collected that day to the amount of $122.25 and for Wednesday, $556.80.

REGISTRATION FRAUDS.

As The Times expected, hundreds of illegal registrations, some of them obviously entered for the purpose of repeating, have been unearthed, and more will doubtless be exposed. By this timely action on the part of the authorities and citizens several thousand illegal votes will be kept out of the boxes on election day. These precautions may prove a most important factor in the shaping of the destiny of the city. The frauds and the apparent extent of them look very ugly.

FOR YOU TO ANSWER.

There has been a futile strike on the part of the railroad shops for some weeks past, and to resurrect it those who are supporting the socialistic ticket for city government within the last forty-eight hours have broken out into violent lawlessness. In such instances only the police can protect life and property, maintain law and order, and secure peace and quietness. Will you put the government into the hands of a party whose followers would assault peaceable workers and commit arson and murder if necessary for their purposes?

A WISE MOVE.

The Good Government organization has moved wisely in its invasion of the enemy's country. Those test meetings on the East Side will prove very effective in our opinion. They will reach many voters who would not hear the truth and know the facts in order to come to the right way of thinking. To remove prejudices, to open eyes and minds to dangers, to get at the brains and hearts of the wage-earners, to plainly show the plain people that it is more to their interest than that of "Big Business" to save the city from the clutches of the socialistic-united ticket, is the way to carry Los Angeles for Alexander and the Good Government ticket.

LAW IS NOT A LAWYER.

Taking the place of Balfour as leader of the British Conservative party is Andrew Bonar Law. Balfour did little more than play with politics, but Law is a whole-hearted sealer and it is believed he will prove a real leader. One thing which commends him to the rank and file of the Conservative party is that Law is not a lawyer. There are big men, learned in the law who "wear silk," as King's counselors, belonging to the Tory party of Great Britain, but they have to be content with holding positions lower than actual leadership. The Conservatives have not had an attorney as their leader for many years, in which case they are unlike the Liberals who follow Premier Asquith, one of the most noted lawyers of his time.

A QUESTION.

Do you want to put at the head of the city government a man so unrestrained as the Socialist candidate for Mayor? Recall his outbreak of temper and the violence he exercised upon that old soldier at his meeting whose sole offense was asking in an entirely respectful manner, and upon Mr. Harriman's own invitation, a question which betrayed Mr. Harriman's lack of knowledge sufficient to qualify him for the office of Mayor, or his insincerity in making promises he knew he could not keep. Do you wish to put in the Council Chamber to uphold this man a body of men of like spirit with the rowdies who attempted to break up the meeting at the Auditorium the other night? Are these men of the type you think ought to represent you in the city government, and do you think their administration will be an honor to you and other good citizens, or that their administration will make for your continued peace and quiet progress and prosperity?

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

When men spend their whole lives without acquiring one dollar of property what right have they to ask the city to turn over its millions for their handling? How can a man who is a failure for himself and for his family expect to control the business of nearly half a million of people? A city is a corporation in which the people are the stockholders. A man who is not a taxpayer holds no stock and he should not be invited to become its president and to be supported by officers who have neither business experience nor assets.

A man may be a good man and not own a dollar to his name. He may be as poor as dirt and yet be of the greatest use to his country and his age. He is of use, however, in the degree that he thinks and creates and in the place where these qualities are of service. A man may be a true poet without the price of a meal. He may be a divine artist without the price of a shave. He may be an orator of power without a coat to his back. Admirable and indeed indispensable as all of these are, it would be folly to ask them to take charge of the business of a company or a city. We do not condemn the men on the Socialist ticket because they are propertyless, but we insist that since they have not made good for themselves in a business sense they should not ask to manage the business of the public.

It might be in order to suggest that if the tutors of the Little Chinese Empire understand their business they will prepare him for a tour of Chautauque lecture engagements.

It is not believed in well informed circles that the Chinese Imperial government will be able to "come back."

A TRUMPET CALL FOR FEDERAL ACTION.

Our days are full of earnest discussion as to the wisdom or unwisdom of the Federal government entering into the regulation of certain phases of our every-day life. There is one matter of the greatest public interest in which it is seen by the most obstinate and fanatical defenders of extreme State rights that the Federal government ought and should (perhaps must) take a hand.

We refer to the divorce evil, and cite recent action by the State government of Illinois as illustrative of the situation. In this commonwealth there is a law that prevails quite generally among the States at the present time forbidding divorced persons who have secured their release from the "galling bonds of matrimony" in the State courts to remarry within a year. It appears that these divorcees have been very successfully whipping the devil of lust around the inter-State trunk by crossing the border and having new bonds (not yet old enough to gall) riveted upon them. The State authorities contend that this is according neither to the spirit nor the letter of the law. Now the various attorneys for the State have awakened to this fact very late in the morning. Various and diverse divorced persons of the Sucker State have come abroad and hitched themselves together in matrimonial chains, forgetful of the law of their own commonwealth. Now it is found that these persons are not married at all. As in many cases children have been brought into the world as a result of these unions, this new declaration is exceedingly interesting to the world at large and decidedly sensational in its effect upon the minds of those declared to be living in illegal union.

Now, supposing the State of Illinois is able to stop this detrimental condition in the divorce evil, what then? Simply there will be no more divorces asked for in the courts of Illinois. The unhappy men and women who have found marriage a failure in one instance, but not sufficiently to deter them from the second experiment, will seek to be relieved from the galling bonds in some State more "liberal" or "progressive" than Illinois. And there you are again.

Even should a couple come to the conclusion for the time being that they wanted to be free from the marriage bonds, and sure in their own mind for the nonce that they never, never, never again would try it, yet if they should change their minds all necessary would simply be to make a permanent change of their domicile. And once again, there you are.

If any one can discover a sure and lasting remedy for these many difficulties so greatly exaggerating the evil of the root-evil of divorce other than a Federal statute under which all divorces may be sought, he has a keen mind; and had he been in the place of Alexander the Great he would have needed no cutlass to loose the Gordian knot.

PAY DAY IN THE HOME.

It is pay day at the factory, in the shop, in the office, on the building, or elsewhere, and there is joy in the home when father, brother, daughter or son comes home with his or her well-filled pay envelope. Then mother plans what she will do with the always needed money to make it go as far as possible. First and foremost, there is the monthly installment of principal and interest to help provide for that home which shall be the security of the family should anything happen to father or other bread-winner in the days that are to come.

Will that provision for the home be as sure a month or so after the advent, if such shall unfortunately happen, of Socialist success in the coming election? That is a question at issue, not the sentimental "beauties" of Socialism as a theory, but the impracticability of it as a means of daily living.

Then mother, still in the enjoyment for her family's sake of the weekly pay envelope, sets aside the portions for the butcher, the baker, the grocer, the milkman, the electric light bill, the gas or other fuel bill, and so on so as to begin another week with a clean sheet and good family credit.

Will there be a clean sheet and good family credit a month or so after the credit of this city and of its wages-earning business passes under, which God and our votes forbid, the credit-destroying blight of Socialist control and Socialist or rabid labor-union mismanagement?

Then mother, still comforted by the weekly pay envelope, thinks of the new frock or hat she can buy for Jennie; of the new shoes or new suit she can procure for Johnny; of the needed things she will insist be bought for the father or other bread-winner and last, always self-sacrificing last, the new thing so much needed by herself; and with loving care for her own she plans the purchase of the necessities and comfort of life.

Will mother be able to perform this duty of loving care when father or other bread-winner brings home the sad word that he or she does not know when there will be another pay envelope, as the shop, office, building or store has perhaps been closed, or the working force reduced because the boss cannot borrow money to meet the weekly pay roll pending completion of the work and collection of its price, by reason of the always conservative banks being fearful of the harmful effect of Socialist or rabid labor-union control of the city and its affairs?

Then mother, after providing for all of the foregoing, and also for the many other necessities not named, thinking of the "rainy day" to come, and "rainy days" always do come, jealously guards whatever may be left of the contents of the pay envelope and longs for Monday, when she can go down town and add that surplus to the growing nest egg in the savings bank.

Will there be any surplus to add to the nest egg in the savings bank, or will there be any nest egg at all, in ninety days or less after the control of this city and its present prosperous business interests shall have passed into Socialist or rabid labor-union hands?

And the home without its weekly pay envelope. In that home there is sorrow instead of joy. There the monthly installments on the home purchase go unpaid and foreclosure and loss of the home result. There Jennie does not get her new frock, nor Johnny his new shoes; there father has to go without the things he needs; there the butcher, the baker, the grocer, etc., have to go unpaid and the family credit is cut off; there the nest egg which has been put by in the savings bank for the "rainy day" which always comes, instead of being added to, has to be drawn out to help (while it lasts) the family from actual want; there the family daily and hourly feels that grinding pinch of poverty which always follows the loss of work and wages; there gloom reigns instead of hope.

But, say the Socialists and rabid labor-unionites, those people who agitate for the sake of agitating and strike for the sake of striking, depriving their families and the families of others of not only the comforts of life, but also of the necessities of life, this thing cannot happen in Los Angeles. Just as it has often happened elsewhere, and with equally as calamitous results. Socialist, rabid labor-unionite success at the election of December 5 will have fully as bad a result as would a general strike, because it will cut off borrowing credits, both for the city and for factory owners, store keepers, building contractors and others, all needing the use of advance money for pay rolls. Then, or very shortly after, it will not be the pay envelope and joy in the homes of Los Angeles, but no pay envelope and misery such as has never before been experienced in this city of marvelous progress. Already, in fear of Socialist success on December 5, building and other contracts are held up, orders for needed large quantities of materials of all kinds are not given, building loans are refused, credits have been curtailed and the pinch of hard and dull times is felt.

If that is the case now, what will be the grave situation after December 5, should Harriman and his cohorts win on that day and drive credit and capital out of this city?

A LOUD AND PERSISTENT TOPIC.

One of the burning questions before the people of this fair city of the angels and their queen is what to do with the garbage. Ours is "a land of pure delight," and surely everlasting flowers bloom here, with an odor that excludes the possibility of any comparison with Araby in its most blessed moods. But as all is not gold that glitters, so all is not sweet that smells, and the people around the Salt Lake depot are hereby summoned in a mass into court to rebut any statement to the contrary.

There are several modes of disposing of garbage and it would really appear as if the intelligent people of this city had hit upon the worst one of all. It is not because the disposition of offal from the kitchens of private residences and public hotels is a new problem among mankind or a novelty here. The discussion of the question has prevailed oftentimes in acute phases so long in this city that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. And still we are doing the work in the worst way.

We have the wisdom of other communities to guide us, but thus far have persistently refused to learn from their experience. It is a fact not to be controverted by any truthful evidence that there are cities which are making money out of garbage. Some accomplish this economical feat by the incinerating process, developing power which not only pays for handling all the rubbish collected in these cities, but leaving a net profit to the municipality. In other places the garbage is passed through properly-constructed and well-managed reduction works by which the whole objectionable mass is brought into a condition which renders it most desirable for fertilization purposes on the neighboring farms. For this last method we make no apologies, recommending it to the earnest consideration of the proper department or departments in the city government.

Take for example an acre of orange trees. At maturity there are some seventy-five great trees upon this 200 feet square of ground. These trees yield from three to five boxes each of fruit, and the net weight would be sixty pounds a box. Let us take an excellent orange grove of seventy trees to the acre yielding five boxes each. That is 375 boxes at sixty pounds each, or a little over a long ton of fruit per acre gathered year by year from the little patch of ground. Now from the orange grove there is no return to the exhausted soil. Fertilization, therefore, is one of the great items of expense to those who manage these properties. From almost all over the world we have fertilizers brought to maintain the strength of the soils.

How much garbage is there gathered in the city a day? We are informed by competent authority that it comes to 150 tons. There are 365 days in a year, in Los Angeles as well as elsewhere, and if Los Angeles is correct the garbage amounts to 54,750 tons a year.

Now we submit that this amount of valuable nourishment for exhausted soils is worthy careful attention. That this use can be made of the garbage we consider among res adjudicate.

INDECENT OR LURID?

Some wise man of the East has already made the astounding discovery that "the Colonel" is to be not merely a candidate for the Presidency in 1912, but is to be THE candidate. The terms in which this announcement is made are nothing less than astounding from the capital letter on the initial word to the full stop at the end of the news item.

There is an old adage to the effect that the bold individual whose temerity is great enough to enable him to accept an invitation "to eat soup with the devil must have a long spoon." Now here is the most amazing part of this altogether sensational announcement. The man who is heading the campaign to make the colonel President again is said to be J. Pierpont Morgan.

One of old has said: "I have put a lock upon my mouth that I offend not with my tongue." Certainly the colonel, as sealed up as a turtle or the snapping turtles or other for many moons and suns, too. He has been as uncommunicative and as puzzling as the Sphinx. But at the same time we have his own word for it (and who will dare classify T. R. with the members of the Ananias Club?) that under no imaginable circumstances could he or would he consent to cultivate "the recipient mood" or allow himself to be caught by the outstretched "hands of his friends," determined on making him a candidate for the Presidency in 1912. In very fact Mr. Roosevelt from his own lips has let fall the confession that in his own judgment (and surely that is infallible) to try to make him President next year would be "a national calamity."

We therefore do not hesitate to characterize as both indecent and lurid the statement that Mr. John Pierpont Morgan and the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt are in a conspiracy against the people to put the latter forward as a candidate for the Presidency in 1912.

Folly of a Hare.

[Chicago Post:] An expressman who had parlayed a dray into a prosperous business was congratulated by a competitor on the extent of his trade. Also he was led into the mysteries of it. Priceless freight was in his care and he didn't know it. Such reliance was placed upon his fidelity as a carrier that he was not even cautioned about his responsibilities.

An illustration was suggested. A box with breathing spaces contained a Belgian hare.

"Here, you see," said the discourser, "is a very valuable animal. Probably it is worth thousands."

"Is that so?" said the owner of the business. "I never thought of that. Let's have a look at it."

The top of the box was ripped off, the hare jumped out and ran away a mile a minute.

The expressman scratched his head as he watched the vanishing act.

"I guess he's a valuable animal, all right," was his observation, "but he hasn't got much sense. He doesn't know where he's going, because his address is on the box."

THE KNOWING PERSON.

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

I would fain pour out a libation, a few drippings of ink solemnly imposed upon paper, to the Knowing Ones.

You've met them. They are everywhere; in business, society, politics, the church, on trains, in hotels, wherever the human species assembles.

I love to enter a shoe store and meet the urbane salesman who knows what I want better than I do. He smiles in a pained way at my suggestions. He tries, oh, so hard, to restrain his contempt, when I indicate my depraved tastes. He remarks, in hopes it will reduce me to a proper silence, that he's been in the shoe business for twenty years. Finally he gets me so cowed that I walk away in foot gear that is killing me, and that I have to give to the janitor eventually, even because Mr. Knowitall insisted that the shoes couldn't possibly hurt. He got me so scared at length that I was afraid to tell him they did hurt. I was afraid he'd slap me next. Then there is the lady who sits next you at dinner. Her weapon is her smile. I wish I could make you feel the deadening weight of that superior simper. She listens to your odd views with a half-amused, half-bored air. This type grows in New England thick as hazel bushes.

Occasionally you meet the religious Knowers. The woosier and crasser his sect the brighter burns his lamp of certainty. He, too, has that smile, that blighting, withering smile of divine restraint. He doesn't care to discuss. Why argue with you, when you don't know even the first principles of things? When this type writes you a letter he always throws in references to certain chapters and verses, which he hopes may, possibly, let in a little light upon your darkened soul; for instance, how about John 6, and II Peter xi, 13, and Ruth xlii, 19-27?

I must not omit the carpenter who knows precisely how you want your shelf put up. You have almost to stand over him with a cocked revolver to get him to do what you want. And when he goes away he leaves you crushed under the consciousness of your utter ignorance of what's what.

Let me not omit the waiter in the restaurant who is pained beyond words at the absurdity of your order: the head waiter who seats you where you don't want to sit; the physician who refuses to listen to your symptoms, who puts your arm as if you were a 2-year-old, and who impresses you with the fact that you have nothing to do with this case, it is his business, you are only the man who is to take the medicine and die; and the boy who listens with ill-concealed impatience to your fool advice, you being nobody but a father; and the girl who, of course, respects you as a mother, only you don't understand.

You meet one in a while, too, the Knowing One who has read your soul, and heard your lecture, and none who assumes as a matter of course that you are insincere, and congratulates you that you have fooled them all—except him.

I confess I hate all familiarity with public personages. It goes against my grain to hear the Knowing One refer to the Mayor or as Carter, or to the President as Bill, or actors and actresses as though they enjoyed the greatest intimacy with them—old pals, you know—and all that.

Why in the world is it assumed to be something to make one chummy because he knows that Pullman conductor or the theater ticket agent, or is to take the medicine, or an actor, or an aviator, a Senator, a criminal, a policeman, or any other of the spotlighters?

And yet I do confess to a certain awe in me when a friend with me speaks familiarly to one of these herders of the human crowd. For I know none who, like I am, am one of the cattle. I step lively when the guard on the elevated railway yells at me. When the head waiter holds up his finger I follow it, hypnotized, to the darkest corner of the dining-room.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

So many in this vale of woe are shining lights on Sunday, and then they let religion go, while chasing roads on Monday. Sunday some are so devout you hear their pious quiver; they sing the hymnbook with a shout from liver unto liver; and when the Sabbath goes from us they scratch for bones and laurels, and do not care a tinker's curse for any set of morals. Six days on sin's gutter they flit, and once a week are pious; the books in which the Word is writ that sort of graft deny us. Religion's good the whole week through, to Saturday from Monday, and we should then refuse to do thing's we'd abhor on Sunday. I am not strong on singing psalms—my voice is hoarse and creaky from eating prunes and boneless ham and health food from Topeka; I am not strong on texts because the scoreboards keep me humping; one can't stock up with moral saws when football teams are jumping. But I've a simple creed, a plan that may have come from heaven; I'll be as pious as I can, not just one day, but seven.

WALNUTS WITH PORT.

[Lancet:] Walnuts are seldom discussed without reference to port, but the association is physiologically unsound, especially as the invariable custom is to eat the walnuts and drink the port after dinner. The food value of walnuts is very high. They are very rich in fat, containing as much as 63 per cent, while the proteins amount to nearly 16 per cent. It has been calculated that thirty large walnut kernels contain as much fat as two and three-fourths pounds of lean beef, and yet the walnut is used as a supplement to a square meal. Added to this the glass of port, say two fluid ounces, contains, besides 180 grains of alcohol, seventy grains of grape sugar. In the combination therefore we have all the elements which make for a complete diet, namely, fat, protein, carbohydrate to which may be added mineral salts. Port and walnuts after a meal are therefore from a nutritive point of view, "ridiculous excess." The digestive disturbance to which this may easily lead is, in fact, the price paid for an aesthetic indulgence. The peripatetic palatability of a crushed mass of walnuts occasionally moistened with an elegant port is a part of the pleasure which it which increases their attraction. It should be added that both walnuts and port, wine contain tannin, which is unsuited to some constitutions.

FREDDIE'S WEE MASCOT.

A Waif Who Followed Him in Streets of New York.

Now His Companion in the Training Camp.

A Girl Reporter's Jolly Impressions of Boxing.

BY SISTER SUE.

"There is some nift to Freddie," said the Pink Editor. The Pink Editor is never enthusiastic about anything except Rap Hogan and early copy; so when he mentions "nift," it behooves one to sit up and take notice. So the Sporting Girl and I went away down to Venice, to view Freddie's particular brand of "nift."

We found that Freddie has a new mascot. No, not a white rat, nor a baby, nor the common or garden variety of goat; but a human mascot, who ought to bring him luck, for he has brought her all the luck in the world.

I asked Freddie, timidly, if he would get mad and put me on his slapping list if I ventured to inquire about her.

Nay, he would even produce her. And he did. And, as he talked, he turned to her, and picked her up, and swung her on his shoulders.

You don't expect to exactly get a crack in the neck looking up to a prize fighter, yet when such a one as Andrew Carnegie to the extent of adopting a little street waif, bringing her up and educating her, with frills, you feel that he is entitled to a few streamers.

"Well, you see, I had to have a mascot," said Freddie, modestly deprecating the imputation that he's any sort of understanding for Helen Gould, "but when a pretty little baby follows you down the street, crying, and puts her little arms up to you, whether she's five or twenty, you've just got to come out and play."

And he smiled up at the little mite, with the eyes of the east side still in her bright eyes, and one big idolatry in life—her love for hunky Freddie.

"Leah was a little waif from the east side, fresh as mountain air, when I took her, and I felt as helpless wandering around the east side of New York with her, as a Newfoundland dog that has just adopted a parrot, but I took her to an orphanage, and had her cleaned up till you could touch her anywhere and nothing came off, and she looked almost human."

SODA WATER FOR LEAH.
"And what do you think was the first thing she asked for? A drink of soda water—said she had never had all the soda she wanted in her life. I assured her that I had a soda fountain set up in my flat that turned out a Christmas tree when you touched a button, and she believed me. Well, we went into a drug store and asked the pill-potter to mix us something, and the little one drank about seven buckets of crushed velvet and subdued cobblestones, or something. Then I took her to my sister. She said: 'Why, Freddie! But next minute she caught sight of the little thing, and took her to her heart. And the baby's been with us ever since.'"

"And Leah trains right along with me, don't you see? She goes through all my stunts with me every day, don't you? I believe in women learning to defend themselves."

"Oh, it's great," answers Leah, with an echo of the old east side. "I can box, too!" she laughed gleefully, running her two little hands into the gloves, and taking the position of defense, head erect, back straight and little hands comically big in the gloves, doubled up, with guard close to her radiant little face.

"And I'm giving her a musical education," Freddie went on, "and if I win this fight, the little girl shall have a year's study over in Europe where they boom on the lower notes and twiddle on the high more classily than they can here."

The Sporting Girl was asking Freddie about his complexion, and he was explaining that you can't eat your complexion and have it too, as the health book says, and I got interested, following up that lead of his about women learning to box. In this day of women policemen and jurors and carpenters and baseball players, what may we not expect?

GIRL BOXERS! OH, MERCY!
"Do you mean," I cried, in horror, "we shall have Susan L. Sullivan, and Battling Bertha and Kid Kites? Do you think we shall have women prize fighters?"

"Gracious, I hope not!" Freddie plausibly ejaculated. "I only mean women are going more and more into business life—they must be out late at night—you as a newspaper woman know that—and they should be able to defend themselves against possible assailants."

Freddie was to fight the Montana Kid, in the Auditorium on the pier, but the ring—which is a square—wasn't ready, so we sat down on the beach and sniffer the briny while we waited, and Freddie held forth on the qualifications of an up-to-date arena ornament of these days.

"The body is not the fectish any more. The day of the iron-bound brawler is past. There's more money in it, and so men of more brains are going into the game. A prize fighter must make a study of hygiene, and for this he ought to have a course of study as well as a course of diet."

Imagine Sharkey spelling out the words in the Origin of Species, or Gentleman Jim reading "Poise and Power."

"Then I suppose the prize fighter of the future," he is a highbrow," I said. "Imagine Bat Nelson spelling out the words in Childtender's Course in Dietetics, and Jim Jeffries sweating over logarithms. In order to be a prize fighter, you should include a course in mathematics."

FIGHTERS TURN HIGH-BROW.
"I sure would," said Freddie, "mathematics and mechanical drawing would help a fellow a lot in training his powers of accurately measuring distances. Wouldn't hurt him a bit—or even free-hand drawing."

Sums way, I couldn't see John L. Sullivan sketching a little violet beside a mossy stone, or Tom Sharkey painting roses on a sofa-cushion! Just then a sporty youth in a golf cap came and said the ring was ready.

STANFORD WILL LOSE FEW FOOTBALL "VETS."

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 18.—With three-fifths of the California fifteen that has beaten Stanford in three consecutive games available for future games, and only three members of the Stanford team of this year ineligible for further competition, Cardinal students are beginning to forget the past. They are confident they will get sweet revenge next year.

Dole, forward, and Brown, full-back, are four-star men. Having played in four intercollegiate games they are done with intercollegiate athletics. Woodcock, front runner, made the varsity for the first time this year, but it was his fifth year in college and he was barred by the five-year rule.

Of the seven men who played against California, fourteen will be eligible. Not one has definitely asserted he will not return to the university. In addition, Louis Cass, who did not get into the game, but who is the best half-back on the campus will be eligible. Several of the players are uncertain as to their future plans, but it is believed that practically all of them will return. Erb and Dole are the only men who played this year who have been members of winning teams. It is expected that the desire of the old men to get a taste of victory will result in their returning for at least one more year.

Schaupp and Erb are members of this year's graduating class, but they are expected to return. Smith, Partridge, and A. Sanborn, forwards, have no definite plans. Gard and Frank, breakaways, will return. Watkins, sub-alto breakaway, also will return next fall. Cass is thinking about quitting at the end of this school year but it is believed that he will change his mind. Geisler and Harrigan at 8 to 1, today.

CONLEY'S OPINION OF JOE RIVERS

Frankie Conley was asked last night just how great a fighter he considers Joe Rivers, now that he has had a chance to judge him at close range.

"He's better than I thought," said Conley, "but still he is not as good as he is touted to be. He's a good strong hitter, but he can't compare with Joe Mandot and some of those boys. I notice that he doesn't last. He got very tired toward the end of the fight Saturday."

"Joe will continue to be a whirling dervish as long as he fights at 135 pounds. He will never be able to do anything as a lightweight after he gets among the 135 pounders. He isn't that good."

FRANKIE AND JOE TO FIGHT AGAIN.
McCahey says they can get early date.

Will Probably Be Put on New Year's Instead of the Match Between Kibane and Abe Attell.
Which Doesn't Program—Conley satisfied to have Eylon Referee.

BY GUY OLIVER.
Frankie Conley and Joe Rivers can fight again in the Vernon arena any time they care to mix, according to the statement last night of Manager McCahey. Just when they can or will come together is another thing, but whenever they can agree they can get a date.

McCahey stated last night that their battle on Saturday was one of the best he had ever seen in this city and he was sure the fight bugs would say that it was a corker. He had not spoken to either one in regard to a return match, but he was sure that both boys would accept such an engagement. They would certainly draw a capacity house and even in a second contest the local bugs would probably not be satisfied with the result.

Both Manager Gilmore and Frankie Conley stated last night that they would fight Rivers again under the same conditions and another match only depended upon a satisfactory date. Gilmore declared that he did not think Conley could get ready for a December 15 date, for the reason that he had earned a rest for a time. He would like to take one in the mountains. He will probably go home to Kenosha before another fight. Any date after December 15 would suit Gilmore, but he would like a holiday, for he thought that Conley was entitled to one. He believes that Frankie would draw as well here on a holiday with Rivers as anywhere he pleased to consider a holiday date.

"The next time Rivers and Conley would like to have $1000 from each boy to make that condition. As to the referees, we are perfectly willing to have Eylon in the next match. I have Conley was really entitled to the decision Saturday, but there is no question that Eylon was conscientious in calling it a draw."

The chances are that Manager McCahey might give a return match with Rivers and Conley on New Year's Day. He has been figuring on Abe Attell and Kibane for that date but neither one of those boys seems very anxious to fight and the probability are that McCahey will pass them up. They have been hanging fire too long. While they would be battling for the championship they have not given any indication, so far, that they are anxious for the meeting, but at that McCahey hopes to land them.

The chances are that Rivers and Conley would draw almost a championship card, for if one may judge from their fight last Thursday it would be hard to imagine that champion could fight a better bout with anyone that was seen last week. Real fighting is what the local bugs like to see and Attell and Kibane could not put up a better exhibition than was seen last Saturday. I fall to see how they could do any better than match Rivers and Conley right back again for New Year's Day.

Gilmore stated last night that he had nothing particular in sight for Conley, but that they would remain in this city for several days just to see what would turn up. Conley had a chance to fight in the South, but would stay here for the present.

McCahey was very much pleased with the showing of both Rivers and Conley and would put them on again whenever they got ready.

Jones wired for the new one to come here at once and on Jones' recommendation McCahey has promised to give the boys the main event for the Wolgast-Wish affair.

Louis Mahn, who fought Eddie Dennis in the prelim last Saturday, is anxious to see Conley and he would not get started last Saturday. There is no question but that he is a good boy and under other conditions might be a surprise to some of the local bugs.

Joe Rivers is to stay in Los Angeles for several months at least in the hope of being a top liner again as soon as Manager McCahey can get him. Conley again under the same conditions and even so, reason why he can't beat him. There was no story about yesterday that Rivers was laid up in bed as a result of the bout with Conley, but it is believed to be a fake, except from a bad left arm. His anticipated lay-off of a week or ten days will do him good.

Dick Wayne, it appears, was knocked clean out of the boxing business by Battling Franks Saturday. He has gone to work for Earl Rogers and will employ his time restoring that attorney to good health.

Freddie Welsh and His Mascot. Before previous fight, Freddie's sister always bossed his training camp; but his sister is married now, so Freddie has brought his little cousin, Leah Weston, out to bring him good luck and keep him company. And Leah brought her doll, Miss Mary Jane.

AD WOLGAST SHOWS GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN BOXING.

BY DE WITT VAN COTT.

THE raised, peaty at Jack Doyle's training quarters were not half long enough to seat the crowd that visited his training camp yesterday afternoon, when Ad Wolgast, the champion lightweight, started his work.

Wolgast appeared about 3 o'clock and did a few warming-up stunts, then boxed three fast rounds with Gus Anderson, a fast lightweight; two rounds with Hobo Doherty. Ad showed a decided improvement in his boxing since he appeared here last.

He is also faster on his feet. Tom Jones says that Wolgast could go into the ring and fight in three days' time if necessary. His skin has a fine healthy color. Three years ago, when Wolgast was training out at Doyle's for his match with Danny Webster, there was very little attention paid to him. Yesterday the spectators were crowded each other for room to get a glimpse of him.

Next Sunday Jack Doyle will have a raised platform built out on the baseball grounds, so all can get a good seat and have plenty of room to see. Judging from the crowd and interest spoken in his workouts, the Vernon Arena will hardly be large enough to seat the crowd on Thanksgiving Day, when he and Freddie Welsh meet in their twenty-round go for the lightweight championship of the world.

Ben Smith, Frankie Conley's trainer, was very indignant at the story to the effect that he put ammonia on Conley's gloves in his fight with Joe Rivers. Smith says that he had a bottle of witch-hazel, alcohol and oil of wintergreen that he used to wash Frankie's face each time he came to his corner, which he poured on a towel to use.

He used the same towel to wipe Conley's gloves with, and someone thought that he was putting ammonia on the gloves. He also explained that he would be worse for Conley than Rivers, as Frankie held his gloves limber up, and the fumes would affect him worse than it would Joe.

There is some logic in this, so let us give him the benefit of the doubt, and take his word for what he says. Ben also said that he had been a long time in the game, and that was the first time he was ever called down as a referee. Smith has always had a splendid reputation in the past, so it is quite possible that some unscrupulous admirer of Rivers let his feelings get away with himself and complained to Eylon.

FRANKLIN IN ROAD RACE.

Takes Second Place Against Large Field and Makes Great Showing in Diamond Tires.

"Speaking of consistent performance," says F. O. Nelson, manager of the Diamond Rubber Company, "I want to call attention to the record of Diamond tires in the Los Angeles Phoenix race. Last year the Franklin car, equipped with Diamond tires, won second place from a big field of cars, without a particle of tire trouble, reaching Phoenix with the original air still in the tires."

"This year with a still larger list of entries, the Franklin, equipped with Diamond tires as before, again won second place in the Los Angeles Phoenix race, while the tires repeated their performance of the preceding year, carrying the car through without a particle of tire trouble. The same set of tires was used in the race at Phoenix, where the Franklin made a mile a minute."

The Remy Electric Company of Anderson, Ind., have added to their forces in the sales department, Roy Watts, a well-known young man of the gas-engine trade. He will now act as a traveling sales representative for the makers of the Remy ignition device. He will call upon the electrical dealers and gas-engine makers in the interests of the Remy company. Watts was formerly power-apparatus manufacturer and has been connected with the Fairbanks-Morse Company and other well-known companies in this country and Canada.

ARMY PLAYS NAVY TEAM.

Uncle Sam's One Sporting Event.

Thanksgiving Game Will Be the Fiercest.

Swells and Belles Will See Tie Settled.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Annapolis and West Point, the army and navy schools, are on the eve of the greatest football battle in the history of these institutions. On Thanksgiving day the future commanders of Uncle Sam's military forces by land and by sea will fight for supremacy over a plunkin'. They will fight as they have never battled before, for the teams stand at a tie after twenty games of rivalry, and here is the tie to be played off.

West Point and Annapolis have emerged from their former standing as second-rate institutions from the football viewpoint and are today making among the best of them all. SOCIETY'S GREATEST EVENT.

The Army and Navy football game is the greatest official sporting event that is staged in the course of the season of a year. In fact it is the only event of a sporting nature in which Uncle Sam officially participates.

In the event becomes official. Nothing in the past of the year means as much to the army or navy man, be he old or young, as does the annual football game. Not an officer in the army or navy fails to attend this game when it is possible for him to get to Philadelphia.

Washington official the game to see the game. There will be found cabinet members with their wives and families, justices of the Supreme Court, members of the President's family, and the families of members of Congress by the score. All the social folk who revolve around the official set will be out in force. Such a drama parade there will be as is seen only on such occasions as the great metropolitan horse shows, but the distinction will be that the spectators at these games occupy positions that are official from a national standpoint.

ORIGIN OF THE EVENT.

The Army and Navy have been playing football against each other since 1880.

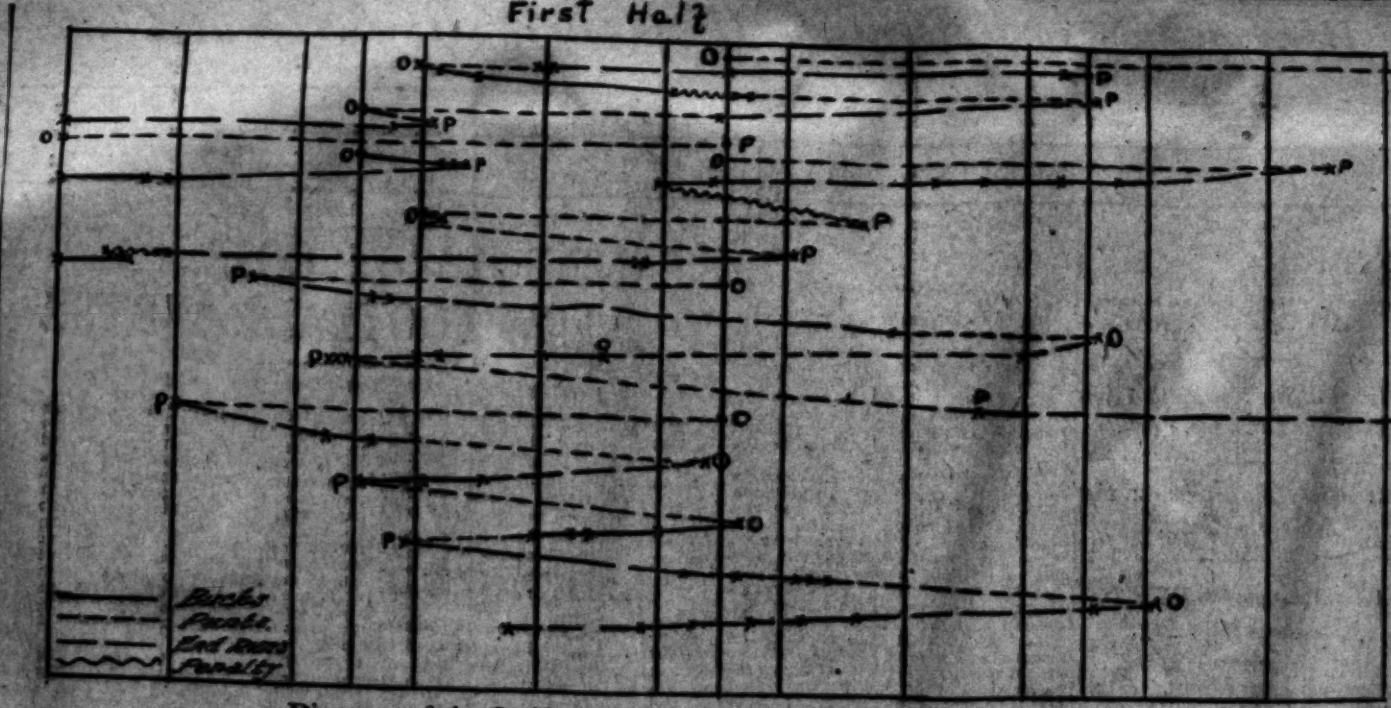

The navy was the first to develop a team. In 1880 the navy proposed to the West Pointers that they get together in an intercollegiate gridiron contest. The army accepted the challenge, and the first game was played at West Point. The navy team had developed a far greater degree of proficiency and the result of the first game was that the West Pointers were decisively defeated by a score of 24 to 0, upon their own grounds.

The following year, however, West Point escaped itself upon the navy by assigning a great surprise upon that institution and piling up a score of 14 to 14 against the Admirals. So was the gauntlet formally thrown down and so has the contest for supremacy been waged ever since.

These first few games were historic. The first captain of the West Pointers was Cadet Dennis Mickle, who, after scoring a glorious death at Santiago de Cuba during the Spanish-American war. Another of the great heroes of the early football contests between the two military schools was Edwin Worth Bagley, who had the distinction of being the only naval officer killed during the Spanish-American war. He was the two early heroes of the army and navy football games to come to tragic ends in fighting the nation's battles. Cadet Worth Bagley, it was who won the third of the army and navy games, and he did it by kicking an almost impossible goal. The teams were tied and then was about to be called when the navy team decided upon an attempt to kick a goal from the field. It was the only chance to win the game. The ball was near the side line, which made the kick one of very great difficulty. In fact it would have been impossible, but for the strong arm that was blowing in the direction of the goal. Bagley waited a signal from the captain, which was given when that official received a like signal from the lower end of the field to the effect that a kick of wind was coming. The plunkin' went with a smack it and was borne between the goal posts, thus scoring the points that decided the contest.

THE TEAMS NOW TIED.

After playing four games the contest between the two military schools were given over for a period of six years, between 1889 and 1899. The schools were so far apart and the facilities of transporting the boats and teams so great that the institutions

To follow the play, begin at the top of the first half diagram, at the center line, and follow until the ball is carried over one of the goal lines. Then come back at the center of the field and find the next kick-off below. "O" represents Occidental; and "P" Pomona. Each down is represented by X. The quarters are not differentiated here, as the ball is not brought back to the middle of the field between the first and last two quarters.

were unable to meet them. It was Dr. J. William White of the University of Pennsylvania, and a visitor on the boards of the two military schools, who finally solved the problem. He proposed that the games in the future be held on Franklin Field, which is the great athletic grounds of the University of Pennsylvania, located in Philadelphia. Philadelphia is an easy run from both Annapolis and West Point and cadets can come and return to those institutions without the necessity of staying over night. The expense is greatly reduced, and the whole student bodies of the two institutions are enabled to attend.

Under this arrangement the games were resumed and have been played at Franklin Field every year since 1899, with the exception of 1904, when the game was held at Princeton, and 1908, when the game was called off because of the killing of Edwin Wilson of the Annapolis team a few days before the game was to have been held. The first few games at the Franklin Field resulted in an alternation of honors between the two teams. Then for a few years the army gained a very decided superiority over the navy. This superiority culminated in the games of 1905 and 1906. In the first of these games the army ran up the monstrous score of 48 to 0 against the navy's 8. In the second game the navy was whitewashed, while the army scored 11 points. The year 1907, witnessed the most desperate contest that has ever been staged at an army and navy game and resulted in a tie, the score of 19 to 19.

This was the turning point in the careers of the team and the navy has been quite regularly predominant ever since, having lost but one game of 1908, by the narrow score of 4 to 6. It brings the present score to 19 to 19, a tie. The result of the twenty-one-year contest between the two schools will finally indicate the superiority of either team. So is a dramatic interest given the coming game that is beyond that of any of the games that have gone before.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE SCORES OF THE GAMES SO FAR PLAYED:

light as a feather, a crowd between a bullfight and a negro lynch- ing, but honestly, I've seen three punishment inflicted with an earnest- ly applied bunch whipper in the hand of a righteously-indignant parent. Of course, it's more exciting than hitting or croquet, but not so exciting as tag, and as a blood-murderer it's about as effective as a photograph in a dead school. Maybe they purposely softened some of the asperities on account of the supposed gentleness of the audience, but it struck me as about as rough as a head game of baseball, and couldn't begin with a football touch-house.

SECRET EXPOSED.

I believe that the reason men have pronounced this sport brutal, is because it's something the women can't stand, and they like to go home and make their wives shudder, and tell them what terrors they are, and make them secretly look up at them as a superior in nerve power.

But when Freddie, with a blue bathrobe around him, came out in talk to us, the sporting folk, with the guide that is in them, said:

"Some pretty girl will be pinning your last name on her laundry list one of these days. What is your ideal, anyway?"

"Brunettes, I guess," he said, "is the color of your hair," he suggested.

"Gallantry's no fair in the pink," she warned him.

But once outside, she admitted to me: "I wish he'd found me when I was two! If he'd stolen me I should

SUMMARY OF FOOTBALL SITUATION IN THE EAST.

PRINCETON has won the championship of the so-called "big six" in the East.

The Army and Navy eleven, both unbeaten, remain to clash for supremacy at Philadelphia Saturday.

Harvard and Yale, though still among the top-notchers, must settle their ancient rivalry this week, each with the sting of two defeats.

Pennsylvania, four times beaten, has lost much support as a favorite in its annual clash with Cornell.

Dartmouth has ended its season, defeated by Princeton and Harvard in such close contests that it may easily lay claim to a place among the leaders.

Pennsylvania State, still unbeaten, looms prominently for its last game with Pittsburgh and for recognition by those who seek to define the eastern championship.

The Carolina Indians, too, remain a strong eleven and favorite for the two more games on their schedule, with Brown and Johns Hopkins, notwithstanding their program was marred by defeat by Syracuse.

The inter-sectional championship is an undefined honor, as the defeat of the Michigan team by Cornell in the East was viewed upon by two eastern teams fell victims to western football Saturday—Pennsylvania at Ann Arbor and Cornell at Chicago.

In the "big eight" circle of the middle west, the situation is complicated by the tie game between Minnesota and Wisconsin, leaving those teams tied for first honors as the games now stand.

Wisconsin meets Chicago on the latter's grounds Saturday, and if Chicago wins, it gives Minnesota the leadership with a record of no defeats and one tie game.

This outcome would place Chicago second and Wisconsin third. If Wisconsin defeats Chicago, the present tie with Minnesota continues unsettled. Illinois, Northwestern, Iowa, Indiana and Purdue stand in the order named among the conference teams.

Princeton's victorious carry with them the one name most conspicuous in the list of individual stars so far.

That of Sam White, the winner of many a football game for the Tigers, but who, according to the interesting report, had to be practically forced to the position for he never liked football. He is credited with sensational plays which won from both Harvard and Yale.

CLASS TRACK MEET AT STANFORD NEXT WEEK.

(Special Correspondence of The Times.)

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 17.—Tom Coleman, '12, of Los Angeles, captain of the Stanford track team, is arranging a meet to be held November 25. All the men who have been indulging in fall training will compete. All the track events will be shortened and the two-mile event will be cut out in order that the athletes will not have to work too hard.

R. H. Seward, '12, of Los Angeles, crew captain, is leading a bunch of crew candidates in training stunts. Arrangements are being made to hold practice spins on the bay at Redwood City in the near future.

The baseball squad, under the leadership of S. W. Gillilan, '12, of Los Angeles, has been practicing for several weeks and now that the football season is over, a number of games will be played on the campus during the remainder of this semester.

Already the students are beginning to look forward to the spring sports. On account of the good prospects in track, crew and baseball, they are confident that victories will be scored in the spring that will in part wipe out the memory of the football defeat of last week.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 17.—Tom Coleman, '12, of Los Angeles, captain of the Stanford track team, is arranging a meet to be held November 25. All the men who have been indulging in fall training will compete. All the track events will be shortened and the two-mile event will be cut out in order that the athletes will not have to work too hard.

R. H. Seward, '12, of Los Angeles, crew captain, is leading a bunch of crew candidates in training stunts. Arrangements are being made to hold practice spins on the bay at Redwood City in the near future.

The baseball squad, under the leadership of S. W. Gillilan, '12, of Los Angeles, has been practicing for several weeks and now that the football season is over, a number of games will be played on the campus during the remainder of this semester.

Already the students are beginning to look forward to the spring sports. On account of the good prospects in track, crew and baseball, they are confident that victories will be scored in the spring that will in part wipe out the memory of the football defeat of last week.

AT STANFORD AND CALIFORNIA

California graduates are to form a

Rugby fifteen next year to play against California, Stanford and Nevada. Among them, captain of this year's eleven, and many of the best players in recent years, have agreed to join the team. It is expected that the fifteen will be as strong if not stronger than any team on the Coast,

and will furnish exceptionally good practice for the varsities.

In addition to the regular sweaters

and letters, the members of the Blue and Gold Rugby fifteen have been awarded miniature gold footballs by the student body. Stanford Rugby will be given one of the trophies.

Varsity football "fix" have been awarded to the following students:

at Stanford: K. L. Dole, '11; F. C. Brown, '11; E. C. Woodcock, '11; E. H. '11; E. L. Schapp, '11; J. F. Partridge, '12; A. M. Seaborn, '12; E. F. Kern, '12; A. H. Frank, '12; P. J. Gard, '14; P. F. Harrison, '14; E. P. '12; L. I. Tilton, '14; G. D. Worrick, '13; R. W. Reeves, '14; T. Sanborn, '12; R. R. Templeton, '13.

"Too Much Goat" is the title of the junior game to be presented on Junior day, December 1, at California.

Stanford students are jubilant as the result of a report that Stan Mitchell, '13, of the campus that Stan Mitchell, '13, of Los Angeles, great football and baseball player, will return to the university next semester. Stan played on freshman and sophomore years but did not return to college this semester. He is badly needed to fill the catcher's berth on the varsity nine.

Vitt Van Court's COLUMN.

George Eldred, Joe and Jack McArthur and many others, famous in their day, fought in this club. It was there that Peter Jackson and Jim Corbett fought their memorable sixty-two-round draw. Hiram Cook was the official referee for years and his word was law. Many times he sat outside of the ring when he refereed the fights.

The Palo Alto and Golden Gate clubs also pulled off many good contests.

ALL FINER FIGHTS.

The main events were all finish fights and several times the fans sat until early in the morning to see them finish.

When finish fights were stopped and the rounds were out down to twenty, other clubs were crowded. The Pacific, and several others held twenty-round contests, and it has continued to the present day. There is not a city in the world today in proportion to its size, that has so many young men who box, not only for a living, but for the exercise and sport of it.

The amateur game has been just as closely followed in San Francisco as the professional. Before the San Francisco fire there was not a block south of Market street, hardly, that did not have an amateur club of some kind.

If it was not in some hall or empty store it was some boy's cellar. All that they required was a ring, punching ball and a set of boxing gloves.

THE AMATEURS.

Twenty-five years ago there were about six amateur clubs that had all the way from 100 to 1000 members. They held regular amateur contests among their own members and several times a year an open tournament was held when all the clubs sent their entries. Handicaps were offered to the winners.

Six weeks before the San Francisco fire and earthquake, the Amateur American Championships were held in the Mechanics' pavilion and had 150 entries. Nearly as many more were not allowed to enter, as they could not pass muster during the tryouts that were held several weeks before the fire.

It took three nights to finish the contents of three rounds each. The first night thirty-two contests were held, sixteen the second and sixteen the third night. The entries came from all over the country, and every prize from the 100 pound weight to the heavyweight class, making eight in all, were won by San Francisco boys.

It is any wonder that the professional of today are looking to the amateur for work? Los Angeles has taken second place to San Francisco in the professional game over the whole country. Some of the greatest championship contests of the past five years have taken place in Los Angeles and Vernon, and Los Angeles has contributed her share to the championship list.

It is hoped that the boxing game will always be as popular, as at the present time. While some things may be improved upon, it is up to us to lend our assistance to accomplish that end.

JEFFERIES TEAM WON.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The Urbina Pure baseball team was defeated by the Jeffries team of Los Angeles this afternoon at Urbina Springs Park by the score of 2 to 1.

THE COUNTRY CLUB GOSSIP.

This is essentially the visitors' room at the Country Club. One of the first courtesies extended to a new comer to California being a visitor's card for one of the other of the clubs. Annandale probably saw rather more visitors than the others an account of its proximity to Pasadena, where most of the winter visitors establish themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. French introduced two friends from San Francisco in M. R. Fields and R. P. Flint, and J. D. Hiram was entertaining George S. Towne of Oakland. Mrs. Warren Bernhardt was also responsible for two visitors, Mrs. Charles E. M. Orner and James Timmer, and Mrs. Herbert Mann brought Miss Clarissa of an Diego.

G. A. Weber introduced C. H. Luther, who has now become a permanent member. They were playing golf together a good deal during the week and from all accounts, Mr. Luther is something of an acquisition to the same.

Judge M. T. Allen and O. B. Carter also played a round on Saturday, the judge winning by one up. He was immensely proud of his prowess, and it is a very short time ago that he was an incapacitated invalid.

Mrs. G. A. Schwarz, Lincoln Clark, E. B. Lockwood, E. H. Strickland, John Elliot and the three French musketeers were also all in evidence on the links, and an unusually large crowd took to the terrace. The unexpectedly warm weather gave all the country clubs a busy week end.

Two Mrs. French's, A. A. and A. R., played a tennis match against Mr. and Mrs. Williams, and at the same time, an exciting football match was taking place between two "Princes" teams in emulation of the one in progress back East, between Princeton and Yale.

It was a reunion of Princeton "Old Boys," who simply took possession of the club on Saturday, shedding their years as the day went on until they were all back in their teens by dinner time, when the fun became jocular intense. The air was rent with college yells, college songs, college songs and college songs.

Prominent among the old boys were Harold Brady, Willis I. Morrison, Jeffrey Chandler, John McWilliam, Bruce Bruce, and Henry Lorne, Robert Pitts, E. T. Bennett and Robert Childs. There were thirty-three of them altogether, and there was much, much, very much speeching.

Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Newcomb also gave a large luncheon party in honor of some New York friends.

By the way, there are some important changes taking place at Annandale this week. The MacLaren twins are leaving, and a new secretary, Lloyd Forney, are being installed. The last is a promotion. Mr. Forney having shown himself as a very capable and very desirable addition to the staff. It is a position that calls for infinite judgment and tact, so much will be imagined, for the club secretary is expected to know everything, and to meet the many and various whims of angry members with unflinching ability, and to be able to wave the magic wand to remove the difficulty. H. C. Williams is the new housekeeper, in which the same common sense are called for to an even larger extent.

San Gabriel too, found her resources stretched to the limit, golf parties, and parties and dinner parties, all finding many patrons.

At the Los Angeles Country Club two golf matches were played on Saturday, the first between George H. Schneider and Shirley Ward to be settled next Sunday.

And the warm weather brought the crowds down to enjoy the musical afternoon tea on the terrace. There were an exceptional large number of diners, including, Mrs. W. A. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jerns, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Avery McCarthy, Howard T. Wagner, and Mrs. J. C. McCarthy, a party of friends from San Francisco and Oakland.

Several large entertainments are coming off at the Los Angeles Country Club shortly. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Holterhoff and the Misses Van Noy and Mrs. J. C. McCarthy, and Ygnacio L. Mott, being some of the hosts and hostesses.

FLAT CARS ARE READY.

Practice Starts at Savannah and Fast Cars are Tuned for the Speed-Test Thanksgiving Day.

Practice has already started in the Flat camp for the two big races, the Grand Prix and the Vanderbilt Cup Race. David Bruce Brown, who will drive in both races, and E. H. Barker, who will pilot a Flat car in the Vanderbilt race, are at Savannah driving over the famous Chatham county circuit, but the Vanderbilt Cup race and four service cars, with the mechanics who will look after the cars during the races.

The other make-up of the Flat team for the two races is as follows: Grand Prix race on Thanksgiving Day, November 24, Louis Wagner, driver, and a new secretary, Lloyd Forney, are being installed. The last is a promotion. Mr. Forney having shown himself as a very capable and very desirable addition to the staff. FINE SHOOTING BY LOCAL MEN.

LOS ANGELES RIFLE TEAM FAR AHEAD OF BIRDS.

Arizona Marksmen Never in the Here With Local Crack—Crosman Is High Gun for Los Angeles Men and Shoots One String Close to Perfect Score at 300 Yards.

With the comfortable margin of 128 points, the Los Angeles Rifle & Revolver Club wiped up the ground with the Birdbird Club Sunday in a twelve man team match over 300, 200 and 500 yards. The Los Angeles club totaled 1264, probably a world's record under the conditions, to 147 for the Arizona men.

Several of the local shooters proceeded to get out during their shooting. Winger and Crosman getting 49 each at 300 yards and Fraser and Crosman shooting 49 and 49 during their practice at 600 after the match.

For the Birdbird club, James Hart was the top-notch with 128 points. Crosman of the locals was high for his club with 141. Seven of the local men beat the top man of the Arizona aggregation.

The conditions were ideal, a bright clear light prevailing most of the day and the wind being very steady. The team averaged 130 1/2 points per man, according to the Birdbird club's 112. The highest score put up by a six man team during the year outside the club's own total of 519 during the Pacific Coast Rifle League.

The Birdbird boys and E. C. Price, former star of the club engagements with other shooting aggregations, didn't even get a grip on the band wagon of the twelve man team. They faded away after their scores were shot, according to local basketball about facing the rest of the club.

Only military rifles were allowed, and the Birdbird boys, using the Springfield, being used by all the members.

The influence of the Southern California Rifle Association was strongly felt in this match, but the Birdbird boys, who were the hosts, were probably the strongest shooting aggregation in the city.

COMISKEY WAS PIONEER OF INSIDE BALL AT FIRST BASE.

BY J. E. SANBORN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—In no other position on the infield has there been such a marked change during the evolution of modern baseball as at first base. Not many years ago managers picked out for their first basemen big, tall men who would hit the ball hard and taught them how to catch a thrown ball. They were all the first basemen who were picked out for their position to complete the out at first base by catching a throw and to bat as near .100 as possible.

The development of inside baseball changed all this, and today the first basemen need not be a heavy hitter if he fills the more important position of the evolution of modern baseball as at first base. Not many years ago managers picked out for their first basemen big, tall men who would hit the ball hard and taught them how to catch a thrown ball. They were all the first basemen who were picked out for their position to complete the out at first base by catching a throw and to bat as near .100 as possible.

They were all the first basemen who were picked out for their position to complete the out at first base by catching a throw and to bat as near .100 as possible.

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, was the pioneer in the development of first base play. When the master of the Sox was master of the St. Louis Browns of the old American Association, the role of manager instead of magnate, back in the 1890's, he started out to make an infielder of himself instead of being merely a mark to throw at on first base. Never a heavy hitter, Comiskey had to make good with himself as manager on the strength of his brain instead of his bat. He was the first man in that position to play far back to the purpose of cutting off hits toward right field, and he was the first to make his pitchers play first base on such hits, when he could not field the ball himself and get to the bag.

Today first base has come to be one of the most important in the team, and is almost as difficult to fill as any on the infield. Instead of a mere slinger and a comparatively sure catch of thrown balls, the first basemen now has as wide a variety of work as anyone. When the bases are empty or there is no runner on first, the first basemen is the corner man, more ground than the third basemen. This he can do successfully because he can play deeper and because he has no throw to make to complete a play at first base or at most only a short toss to the pitcher. He has not as wide a range of territory as the second basemen or shortstop, because he must play close enough to the foul line to get in front of all except the exceptionally fast grounders.

It is when a runner reaches first base in safety that the real work of
